Indian Troubles Again.

We are informed that the Indians over in the Cow Creek Country have again assumed a hostile attitude towards the whites. Within the past four or five days they have stolen from the ranches about one hundred head of stock, among them some very fine horses and mules. Mr. Loag of this place is a loser to the amount of some ten or fifteen of his most valuable mules.

We also hear that on Thursday last the Indians in large numbers visited Churn Town, on the east side of the Sacramento river, and run the whites away from the place. The people of Churn Town had, on the day previous, pursued and killed several of the savages while making their way to the mountains with a lot of stolen property.

COMMUNICATIONS.—We have several communications on our table, which should have appeared in to-day's paper, but for a press of advertisements. We have been compelled from the same cause, to omit several editorial articles prepared for this number. They shall be attended to next week.

MUSICAL CONCERT.—Our citizens will be glad to learn that Mrs. Robb will give another of her delightful concerts in this place this evening. We trust that the ladies and gentlemen of Shasta will welcome the return of this charming
