From Yreka.

We observe by the Mountain Herald of the 9th inst., that that paper has changed hands, Messrs. Thornbury & Co. having disposed of the same to J. L. Cummins & Co. The new firm, in a Prospectus, admirably written, sketch the features of the paper as it will be conducted in the future. They announce that it will doff the name of Herald and don that of "Yreka Union." Not a good idea at all, we think. They also announce their intention of enlarging their paper. A month's experience of the expenses of getting it out at the present size, will, unless we are very much mistaken, change their intentions in this respect. Enlarging papers has been the great cause of the want of success on the part of so many papers in this State. And it is now the reason that a majority of the San Francisco dailies yield a revenue barely sufficient to sustain their existence. As the retiring proprietors have our kindest wishes in whatever business they may engage, so also do we wish all manner of success to Messrs. Cummins & Co. To the Doc. do we extend our editorial fist.

The Rogue River Indians are again becoming hostile. They killed two men in Deer Creek Valley on the 2nd June, one of whom was named Fillput.

A detachment of Dragoons from Fort Jones is in the field.

The Herald also says that Messrs. Sleeper,
