

nessed the struggles of our revolutionary sires to win that freedom which we now enjoy, are fast passing away from this earth, and that soon not one of them will be left to describe the thrilling scenes of the days that tried mens' souls. A few years more, and not a single human being will be found upon the earth who has looked upon the great Washington. We are led to these remarks by the following paragraph from the Washington City Organ, in speaking of the death Mrs Tayloe:—

Mrs. Tayloe was born in the year 1782, in the then colony of Maryland, under the Crown of England. Its representatives in that colony were her sponsors in baptism. Her early years were spent in the brilliant court of Annapolis, then the gayest and polished city in the colonies, north of Charleston. In the year 1798, after a visit to Mount. Vernon, Mrs. Tayloe had the honor of being sent to Alexandria by General Washington, in his Chariot drawn by four horses, in the style of that day; having under her charge Mrs. Washington's grand-daughter, the then beautiful Nelly Custis, the sister of G. W. P. Custis, of Arlington.

BIG LOAD.—A few days since one of the six-mule teams of Messrs. Miner & Jaynes brought to this place, from Red Bluffs, a load of goods weighing eight thousand four hundred and seventy-three pounds. When the latter eight miles of the road is taken into consideration, this will be acknowledged to be an extraordinary load. The splendid teams of Messrs. Tomlinson & Woods and the Messrs. Tower also occasionally haul into this place loads much heavier than some we have seen noticed below, but none so large as the one noted above.

NOME LACKEE.—This Indian reservation, we are informed, is in a most flourishing condition—the large number of Indians now resident there pursuing most industriously their daily avocations, seemingly with perfect contentment and happiness. We had the pleasure of meeting Col. T. J. Henley, Superintendent of Indian affairs, at Tehama, on Saturday last. He left for Nome-Lackee on the following morning. Gen. Denver was also expected to arrive at Tehama on Sunday, on his way to the Reservation.

A REPENTANT SINNER.—It is good to see a man turn from the evil of his ways, and act righteously. It is said that Dr. Hayne, the notorious individual who is in the Kentucky penitentiary for marrying every good looking woman he could come across, leads off in the psalms and hymns which are sung by the prisoners. We have known men to go mourning for many days, because of marrying one wife. What then must be the poignancy of grief experienced by this wicked Doctor, who, it is said, committed the offence some dozen times over. How soothing to his mind, as he sings, must be those comforting words,

“While the lamp holds out to burn,
The vilest sinner may return.”

A NEW STATE TICKET.—The Mountain Democrat publishes the following ticket, which, that paper says, has been nominated by certain persons who are opposed to both the Know Nothing party and the Regular Democratic Ticket. A number of the best speakers in the State, it is said, will take the stump for this ticket so soon as the Know Nothing Candidates are nominated.

For Governor, L. Aldrich; Lieutenant Governor, General David Douglass; Judges of Supreme Court, John M. Howell for full term, Chas. M. Creanor for unexpired term; State
