

and every Southern State except Kentucky. The Hiss committees and the murderers of women and children will of course vote for the abolition candidate.”

SUPERINTENDENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS IN CALIFORNIA.—There is probably no officer in California holding a position under either the Federal or State governments, who has been the subject of as much vituperation and abuse through the press, as the Superintendent of Indian affairs. The industry, energy, determination and untiring efforts, displayed in the performance of onerous and difficult duties of his office, have met no other reward than unmitigated abuse and uncalled for censure. We are glad to observe lately, that a reaction has taken place in this particular, and that there is more of a disposition to do justice to a worthy, efficient and faithful officer.
