

Guidelines for Citing Resources at California Indian History Website

The types of resources included at the California Indian History website will be essays, multi-media, video, primary sources and other online content. The purpose of this section is to provide citation guidelines and sample formats from the following handbooks, manuals and reference works. The California Indian History website generally follows the Chicago Manual of Style (16th Edition, 2010). The examples below are suggested models only. You should confirm preferred citations of online materials with your teacher, department, or publisher. A useful online citations, grammar, punctuation and plagiarism tool can be found at <http://www.bibme.org/>.

APA (6th edition)

These examples follow Concise Rules of APA Style, 6th ed. (Washington DC: American Psychological Association, 2010).

Turabian (8th edition)

These examples follow Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 8th ed. (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2013). The two different styles described in Turabian—notes-bibliography style and author-date style—are listed below. Turabian suggests for undated online materials use the date of access in place of the date of publication.
